

Dr. Hameed Jamali is a specialist in climate change adaptation, water management and governance and disaster risk reduction with more than 15 years of wide-ranging international work experience (UN, NGOs, semi- government organizations and academia) in research and advisory, policy analysis and project management, primarily in the context of developing countries (e.g. South Asia, Africa and the Caribbean). Field experience in agriculture and food security, disaster preparedness, climate-resilient development, community-based water management, livelihood support and capacity building. Dr. Jamali has extensive research and work experience in wide-ranging areas: critical analysis of climate change adaptation, global governance of climate change, water governance, public participation, environment and development, South Asia, Pakistan, global South. He completed Masters in Development Studies from the School of International Development, University of East Anglia, UK and holds a PhD in Development Studies (Climate and Development Processes) from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, Switzerland. Previously, he worked with the UN Environment based in Geneva on green economic transformation in Africa, the Caribbean and the South Asian regions. Hameed Jamali worked as a postdoctoral research fellow at the IHE Delft Institute for Water Education, Netherlands conducting research on climate change adaptation and water governance issues with a focus on Indus Delta, Pakistan. He is also affiliated with IHE Delft as a visiting research fellow. Currently, he is working as Assistant Professor of Development Studies at the Institute of Management Sciences, Peshawar, Pakistan.

Work History

2019-05 -
Current

Assistant Professor

Institute of Management Sciences, Peshawar, Pakistan

- Design and delivery of postgraduate and graduate level courses in the areas of climate change, water management and governance, political economy of development, poverty and environment, Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), policy design and analysis and relevant subjects
- Supervise MS and BS students for their research thesis including research design, proposal writing, data collection, analysis and academic writing
- Designing and conducting research projects in the areas of climate change, water management, development policies, SDGs and related development challenges of Pakistan
- Collaboration with other international and national academic and research institutes and universities for conducting multi-

Contact

Address

1-A, Sector E-5, Phase-7,
Hayatabad
Peshawar, KP, 24650, Pakistan

Phone

+92 311 0601423

E-mail

hameed.jamali@imsciences.edu.pk; h.jamali@un-ihe.org

Skills

Research Design and Analysis

Policy Analysis

Excellent communication abilities

Research Project Development and Management

Project Design and Management

disciplinary research on development challenges of the Global South

- Establish critical and international research agenda in climate change adaptation and development policies and published in peer-reviewed journals

2017-04 -
2019-03

Postdoctoral Researcher

IHE Delft Institute For Water Education, Delft, the Netherlands

- Conducted independent research on water management and climate change adaptation with a focus on Indus River in coordination with international academic partners in the areas of i) politics of water management and governance in deltas, ii) interactions between climate adaptation and development, iii) rural livelihoods, local resource governance including food production, iv) global governance of climate change adaptation, v) environment and natural resource politics, vi) critical public policy and discourse analysis in the above-mentioned areas
- Supervising MSc students in research design and research proposal development
- Designing and delivery of online courses for global audience in the areas of climate change and water governance
- Conducting research and developing policy briefs on water, climate and SDGs
- Collaboration with academic and research think tanks and universities for multi-disciplinary research collaboration
- Presentation of research findings at major international conferences

2019-04 -
Current

Visiting Research Fellow

IHE-Delft Institute For Water Education, Delft, the Netherlands

Conducting research on issues of water governance and management, climate change adaptation, Sustainable Development Goals

Design and delivery of online training courses on water and climate change

Research project development and collaboration on critical issues linked to water governance policies, SDGs in the context of climate change

2014-09 -
2017-02

Research Analyst and Consultant

Green Economy Team, Geneva, Switzerland

- Conducting research and providing technical advice on climate change, environment and development policy
- National and sectoral policy assessment and support by engaging with key high-level stakeholders in the countries of the regions covered (Caribbean, Eastern Europe, Africa and Asia)

- Project development, supervision and reporting at the Secretariat of the Partnership for Action on Green Economy (PAGE) project spanning five UN agencies (UNEP, ILO, UNIDO, UNDP and UNITAR)
- Networking and coordination with focal points of partner UN agencies and country stakeholders, developing work planning, budgeting and monitoring mechanisms
- PAGE country programme manager for Mauritius (total annual budget of more than USD 300,000)
- Disseminated research findings to various personnel in different formats, including white papers, presentations and spreadsheets.

2011-05 -
2014-04

Research Assistant

Graduate Institute Of International And Development Studies, Geneva, Switzerland

- Analysed international climate change negotiations, funding mechanisms and adaptation strategies
- Conceptually analysed methodologies for community vulnerability assessments (CVA) and other tools
- Examined national climate change policies, strategies and implementation plans
- Prepared materials for reports, presentations and submission to peer-reviewed journal publications.
- Organized various class presentations and new course materials on climate change and development policies in the context of Global South

1998-01 -
2006-08

Program Manager

Various NGOs In Pakistan

- Worked with a number of NGOs and semi-government organizations on a variety of projects on natural resource management, water and sanitation, community irrigation, sustainable livelihoods, capacity building and micro-credit in different parts of Pakistan in collaboration with a number of UN Agencies, IUCN, WWF, Pakistan Poverty Alleviation Fund, USAID, European Commission, Mercy Corps, Oxfam GB and other development organisations and funding agencies.

2015-01 -
Current

Founding Member and Research Associate

KOMPRENO, Geneva, International, home based

- Design, implement and conduct research projects in environment and development

- Representing Kompreno at international conferences as well as thematic and policy forums
- Planning multi-focal projects encompassing climate change and adaptation, SDGs, water governance, DRR

Education

- 2009-08 - 2015-01 Ph.D.: Development Studies (Climate Change)
Graduate Institute Of International And Development Studies - Geneva, Switzerland
Global Governance of Climate Change Adaptation and Development Policies in the context of global South with a focus on Pakistan
- 2006-09 - 2007-08 MA: International Social Development
University Of East Anglia - Norwich, UK
- 1995-09 - 1998-07 Bachelor of Business Administration (Honours): Business Administration
Hamdard University - Institute Of Leadership And Management, Lahore

Accomplishments

- 2019: Secured internationally competitive grant of EUR 75,000 from the Government of the Netherlands (NUFFIC) and conducted a training of 40 professionals across Pakistan by engaging an international team of professors/trainers and practitioners from the Netherlands on gender, water management and climate adaptation
- 2017: Received highly competitive grant from Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions (European Commission) to conduct post-doctoral research at the IHE Delft Institute for Water Education, the Netherlands
- 2011: Significantly contributed towards writing a grant application for Swiss National Science Foundation for a total grant of CHF 300,000 under which my PhD research was completed at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva (<https://app.dimensions.ai/details/grant/grant.5223208>)
- 2009: Received full scholarship from the Graduate Institute the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva

- 2006: Received prestigious British Chevening Scholarship for MA in International Social Development from University of East Anglia, UK
- 1998-2006: Successfully achieved a number of non-academic project grants during my work with (including Unicef, UNDP, Oxfam GB, Oxfam Novib and other organisations for implementing community based projects in the areas of water resource development, water and sanitation, women rights, child labour and other development issues in Pakistan

Research and Publications

Research Articles:

Zwarteveen, Margreet, Jeltsje S. Kemerink-Seyoum, Michelle Kooy, Jaap Evers, Tatiana Acevedo Guerrero, Bosman Batubara, Adriano Biza, Hameed Jamali et al. 2017. 'Engaging with the Politics of Water Governance'. Wiley Interdisciplinary Reviews: Water 4 (6): n/a-n/a. <https://doi.org/10.1002/wat2.1245>.

Walmuller, J and Jamali, H (2019): Operationalizing Sustainable Development Goals in Vulnerable Coastal Areas of Ecuador and Pakistan: Marginalizing Human Development? Journal of Human Development and Capabilities. Volume 20, 2019 - Issue 4: Data, Politics and Knowledge in Localizing the SDGs. <https://doi.org/10.1080/19452829.2019.1666810>

Scoville-Simonds, M and Jamali, H (2019): The Hazards of Mainstreaming: Climate change adaptation politics in three dimensions. World Development, Volume 125, January 2020, 104683 <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.worlddev.2019.104683>

Manuscripts under preparation:

Jamali, H.: Adapting Pakistan to the global climate: The transmission of the 'adaptation policy framework' at the national and local level (Manuscript in final stages for World Development)

Jamali, H and Zwarteveen, M: Indus River Delta: Contested Narratives in the Climate of Change (Manuscript in final stages for submission to Environmental Science and Policy)

Conference Proceedings:

Jamali, H. and Hufty, M. (2014): Adapting to Climate Change or Constructing Climates for Adaptation: Translating Global Discourses and Local Realities into Projects. Paper presented at the conference, "Beyond 2015: Exploring the Future of Global Climate Governance", on 20 November 2014, Amsterdam, Netherlands

Jamali, H. and Hufty, M. (2012): Adapting to Changing Climate or Creating a Climate for Adaptation in Pakistan? Presented at PhD Conference on International Development, held on 18 - 19 September 2012, Ruhr-University Bochum, Bochum, Germany

Jamali, H. and Hufty, M. (2012): Adaptation to climate change in Pakistan: New bottle old wine? Prepared for Adaptation Futures, International Conference on Climate Adaptation, held at 29-31 May, 2012 University of Arizona

Hufty, M, Scoville-Simonds, M and Jamali, H. (2012): Adapting to adaptation: increasing the gap between levels of governance? Paper presented at Conference on Earth System Governance - Towards a Just and Legitimate Earth System Governance: Addressing Inequalities, held on April 18-20, 2012, Lund, Sweden

Jamali, H and Hufty, M (2011): Transformation or Degradation: transition from karez to tubewell irrigation and its implications for power relations and social structure in Balochistan, Pakistan. Paper presented at 13th IASC Biennial International Conference, 'Sustaining Commons: Sustaining Our Future, held 10-14 January 2011, Hyderabad, India.

International Workshops and Conferences

Organised a number of international workshops and conferences:

- 2019: secured internationally competitive grant of EUR 75,000 from the Government of the Netherlands (NUFFIC) and conducted a training of 40 professionals across Pakistan by engaging an international team of professors/trainers and practitioners from the Netherlands on gender, water management and climate adaptation
- 2015: Organisation of Green Economy Regional Conference for the Caribbean Region in Jamaica
- 2014-2016: Organised a number of webinars and national and international workshops and seminars during my assignments work at the UN Environment Program in Geneva
- 1998-2006: Designed and conducted several trainings & workshops (climate change, participatory irrigation management) during my work with NGOs in Pakistan